You can change a child's life

Children are constantly learning how to make important decisions that affect their lives. Our own children are lucky—they attend good schools, and travel beyond their safe neighborhoods to visit other places. Children of poverty must also make important decisions in their lives. However, they do not have the opportunities necessary to expand their horizons that our children have.

In California, there are over a million children whose families have so little money that they have never traveled beyond their often unsafe neighborhoods. Many have never seen the ocean, much less gone to the mountains to see forests, lakes and wildlife.

The statistics reveal that one quarter of renter households (1 million out of 4.1 million) in California's metropolitan areas spend over 50% of their income on rent. This situation leaves little money left over for necessities such as food, clothing, and medical care, let alone child development opportunities.

The Wildlands Conservancy (TWC) takes these children out of their confined, and often dangerous neighborhoods, and transports them to a safe, natural world that most have never seen. Here, programs funded by TWC create a unique and positive learning environment. The children return home with a new understanding of their place in this world and they are better prepared to make decisions because their horizons have been expanded.

This year TWC will provide funding for approximately 90,000 children to spend one to five days in programs at outdoor education facilities located throughout Southern California. A partial list includes Camp Bluff Lake, Blue Sky Meadow Outdoor Science School, Oak Glen Preserve, Pipes Canyon Preserve, and Wind Wolves Preserve.

We need your help to keep doing this. FUNdKIDS raises money from people and organizations like yours to support TWC's outdoor programs for disadvantaged children. Unlike other nonprofit programs, 100% of your FUNdKIDS donation goes directly to support the disadvantaged children's programs; fundraising and other costs are paid by either Korek Land Company, Inc. or The Wildlands Conservancy. How many children would you like to help?

We accept real estate donations.
